Expression of Interest

Are you under the age of 30?

Would you like to gain a better understanding of what it means to be part of a Union?

Do you have an interest in raising the standards for workers both locally and abroad?

If so, we have an opportunity for you.....

CUPE BC is hosting their Annual Convention this year in Vancouver from Wednesday, April 22 to Saturday, April 25 and we would like to give those that are interested a chance to join some of their CUPE 411 Executive at this event.

In a world where the role of unions is constantly questioned and attacked, it is vitally important that we continue to educate and inform both our co-workers and community members of the good work that unions have done, and continue to do, on behalf of all society.

There is a perception that young people today are apathetic and don't care about unions, while this may or may not be true, your current CUPE 411 executive not only recognizes, but understands the importance of both engaging and educating our young workers. The goal of any union is to raise people up, not drag them down, and strive for a fair and just workplace, especially when it comes to a workers right to safety as it is often our young workers that are hurt on the job.

If you think that this is an opportunity you would like to take advantage of we would ask that you kindly email unionoffice@cupe411.ca and tell us a little bit about yourself and why you have decided to put your name forward. Deadline for submissions is Friday, March 6, 2020.
